It is not generally known that the first patron of Michael Munkacsy, known to the world as the painter of "Christ Before Pilate," was an American, a gentleman from Philadelphia, who passed through Disseldorf when Munkaesy was a young and strug-gling artist. The American became convinced that the young Hungarian's olctures had merit; he bought one, took it to Paris, and sent it to the Salon, where it was promptly placed, and attracted a great deal of attention.

Professor Arthur Schuster, of Manchester, England, a physicist, whose studies of the passage of electricity through gases, and of terrestrial mag-netism, have attracted much attention, recently told ic of a defect in his eyesight which formerly caused him great anxiety. This was of such nature that the lines in a spectroscope were dis-torted, and hence he was forced for a time entirely to abandon spectrum analysis in his researches. Consultation with the best occulists gave him no satisfaction. Finally he himself tested his eyes by means of an opera glass, and of lines ruled on a screen, first held horizontally and then vertically, and he had lenses made to suit his eye. THE TRAVELS OF ST. PAUL

DR. RAMSAY CONTINUES TO DRAW LARGE

AUDIENCES.

QUESTION OF PAUL'S CONSECRATION-OMISSION

FROM THE SACRED NARRATIVE. Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 5 (Special) .- At the seminary vesterday afternon Professor Ramsay delivered the fifth of his lectures on "The Travels of St. Paul," to a large audience. He opened the discourse by calling the attention of the audience to the plan which he was pursuing, and said: "We have considered chapters xxi and xxvii of the books of the Acts, selecting these because they are generally accepted by the critics as authentic and chapter is the opening of a new part of the narra-chapter is the opening of a new part of the narrative." Continuing, he said:

Now we want to ask the question, What was the effect of the ceremony which is narrated in these first three verses? Lightfoot holds that this is the consecration of Barnabas and Saul to the position of discipleship, and that the actual investiture took place at Antioch. If we follow Lightfoot we are struck with the discrepancies between this passage and others, as, for example, chapter xxvi, is and if. Here Christ says to Saul, "For this purpose have I appeared unit thee, to make thee a minister and a witness," etc. Now look at chapter xxii, is.
Here we have the words, "Thou shalt be his witness unto all men." These passages seem to imply that Paul's apositeship began at a much earlier date than that of the record in chapter xiii. We find also that Paul claimed that his apostleship began from the Lord's appearing near Damascus, as he relates to the Galatians in the first chapter and the eleventh, fifteenth and sixteenth verses. We cannot admit Lightfoot's view when we compare chapter xii, 2, and chapter xiiy 25, for we see that when the work to which they were consecrated was completed they returned to Antioch. So I believe that it is impossible to believe that chapter xii relates the beginning of the apostleship of Paul.

I have been minute in this argument because if Paul's apostleship began at chapter xiii, then the South Galatian theory is impossible. Another point to which I have referred before is the remarkable change of subject in verse 3 of this chapter.
The only feasible interpretation is that "they refers to the whole Church, for we find in chapter va a reference to a similar action by the whole congregation Another point is that the words.

"They sent them away" in the English is not altive." Continuing, he said:

fers to the whole Church, for we find in chapter xv a reference to a similar action by the whole congregation. Another point is that the words. They sent them away in the English is not always capable of the same interpretation. The Greek term used is that usually employed in the dismission of soldlers and of guests. You know it was soon of soldlers and of guests. You know it was considered a marked impropriety for a guest in those days to depart from a house until he was formally dismissed. The translation "They gave them leave of absence" is the true rendering here. On the meaning of this verse rests the argument against the South Galatian theory. Now, you observe that there is a difference between being sent by the Holy Ghost and having a leave of absence from the Church of Antioch. There is a total difference implied in the action to be taken, and it is unfortunate that the same word is used in the English to express these two ideas.

A COMPRESSED NARRATIVE.

eginning of the narrative.
I wish to call attention to the importance of the meaning of the words "they went through." The Greek word has two meanings. One to go through a place with the intention of getting to some other purposes. Examples of the first are to be found in chapter xviii, 27, and in chapter xiii, 14, and of the second are found in chapter ii, 13; xii, 6; xx, 2, and 3, and 3,

Asia it is said that the action is taken under Divine guidance. The question may be asked why Paul did not stop at Pamphylia. This section of country is very unhealthy, and one coming from Cyprus, after a journey of fatigue, a journey which ended in such an emotional strain, is exceedingly liable to stekees. Any physical weakness shows then. In those circumstances Paul prabably had a recurrence of the malady with which he was afflicted. But why did not Lake mention this? The reason is that it was not a matter which interested him; it lies outside of his plan to state causes. He expresses facts plainly, but dose not explain. He simply states the fact that Paul came here for evangelical purposes. This thought which I venture to give would be merely a hypothesis were it not for the fact that Paul mentions to Galatians that stekness was the reason of

LUKE HAD NO SENSE OF TIME.

In the following part of the narrative we are again struck with the difficulties of chronology. This is for the same reason that we mentioned before. Luke In verse 14 the narrative goes on to say that they there on the first Sabbath, but when we study the context we see that this is impossible. I claim that the stay in Antioch was from six to ten months. Lake does not say anything about the first Sabbath He probably did not know the exact time of their going into the synagogue. It did not interest him. going into the synapose.

This is only the next event to which he calls attention. The same practice was probably put in practice as in Salamis. Paul probably spoke week after week. Up to this time there had been no quarrel between Paul and the Jews. This we can later from Luke?
